The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the cited Competition Sports brochure in view of Guenther.

In the figure designated RA-117, the brochure shows chair structure as claimed, with the exception of having a slidable drawer. The patent to Guenther (figs. 1,2) teaches the conventionality of providing a slidable drawer underneath a seat for holding various articles. In view of this suggestion, to have provided the seat of the brochure with a sliding drawer thereunder, for storing articles therein, would have been an obvious modification to one with ordinary skill in the art. Note that Guenther shows sidewalls and rear walls as claimed that form a skirt for the drawer and that completely conceal the drawer from sight when in the closed position.

Applicant's arguments filed February 15, 2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Contrary to applicant's arguments, it is the examiner's contention that the prior art as a whole does indeed suggest and provide motivation for the combination of the references as set forth in the above rejection. The Guenther patent clearly suggests the use of a sliding drawer underneath a seat for the purpose of holding and storing articles. The chair depicted in the Competition Sports brochure does not have such a drawer and, according to applicant, relies on a separate storage compartment for this purpose. The motivation to add a drawer to the chair of the brochure is evident and compelling, as such would not only provide handy storage for various articles, but would eliminate the need for a separate storage compartment, thus saving on cost and space.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
